FLARE-UP ALONG RUSSIAN FRONT

FIERCE SOVIET DRIVE ON KHARKOV

GRIM STRUGGLE FOR KERCH PENINSULA

MARSHAL TIMOSHENKO'S troops, pouring through the Kharkov "gap," are said to be advancing against the Germans' second line of defences and the city itself.

So fierce was the Red Army's offensive that in less than 24 hours' fighting Russian tanks broke a way through the first great network of pillboxes, minefields and obstacles stretched before this famous industrial treasure-house of the Soviet Ukraine.

Three hundred and fifty miles to the south General Kozlov's Caucasian troops and Marines are still stubbornly engaging General von Manstein's armoured drive towards the Kerch Straits, while in the North General Meretskov has launched a big new movement to break through the German hold on Leningrad.

The Soviet midnight communiqué reports further Kerch withdrawal and continued advance in the Kharkov sector.

Moscow radio early this morning reported a Soviet advance on the Leningrad front, where it was said that the Germans were trying to hold on to the second line of defence, and were sustaining heavy losses.

MASSIVE RUSSIAN ATTACKS

Soviet infantry, working in close co-operation with tanks and 'planes, are advancing in one sector, despite spring thaw conditions, Moscow reports, and German efforts to bring up reinforcements are being frustrated by night and day bombing by the Red Air Force, which has established air supremacy. Russian sources do not specify the whereabouts of these operations, but Berlin says that General Meretskov, the Soviet Commander on the Leningrad front, is attacking along the River Volkhov with ten rifle divisions, five rifle brigades and four tank brigades. The Volkhov flows from the south-easterly corner of Lake Ladoga in a south-westerly direction to within a few miles of Lake Ilmen's northern tip.

A Vichy Radio account of the fighting says that "massive attacks" are being thrown against the German forces holding Novgorod at the northern end and Staraya Russa at the southern end of the lake.

WIDENING THE GAP

It is now clear that Marshal Timoshenko's Kharkov push is more than a move to ease the pressure on Kerch, and is, in fact, a major offensive against the German lines. Once tanks had driven the first breach in the German defences they pushed on, widening the gap and forcing the Germans further back upon their rear. The tanks were thrown into action from two directions against one strongly fortified zone. Infantry surrounded the pill-boxes over-run by this onslaught, and more attacking forces piled into the hole created in the Axis bristling defence system. The Germans resistance was desperate and their losses in men and material were heavy. They were unable to get away their guns, munitions and other heavy material. A large amount of their artillery has fallen into Russian hands. In twenty-four hours many strong points and fortifications were captured and hastily thrown in German reserves failed to stem the Russian tide.

While Russia strikes its first major blow of 1942 before Kharkov, other battles flaring up between the city and the Azov shore — combined with the growing activity near Leningrad and on the central sectors—suggest that the time is very near when the whole gigantic Russian front will be in motion. Below Kharkov—itself on the Donetz—Soviet troops are, Berlin states, striking at several points in the Donetz Basin. Fighting went on throughout Wednesday night at Kerch, and all Moscow reports reflect the Soviet's confidence in the "final outcome," though "here and there," Red Star says the enemy "may obtain partial successes in the period of big battles now approaching." —(P.A. and Reuter.)

HEAVY FIGHTING

The German High Command stated yesterday that General Meretzkov's forces have launched attacks on the German positions in the Volkhov area, south of Leningrad. Their attacks, which the Germans claim were repulsed, were intended to break through the encirclement of Leningrad. Since March 9, it is added, the Russians have been carrying out large-scale offensive operations, using ten rifle divisions, five rifle brigades, four tank brigades, and at the start a number of ski battalions.

Accordnig to a Reuter telegram from Moscow, Soviet bombers have struck a series of blows at important military targets in the German rear on the Central front. Troops were bombed in one district, and the Germans lost more than 500 men in killed and wounded. A fuel dump was destroyed. Explosions were heard for fifteen hours after a raid on a neighbouring German aerodrome, where Soviet pilots set fire to a bomb dépôt. Other raids were carried out on several points, where heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans.

THE PENINSULA

American Radio commentator, Robert Magidoff, broadcasting from Moscow, described the Kerch battle as being "as severe as any in this war. Both sides fully realise the importance of holding the peninsula, which is too narrow to permit large-scale engagements. Although the Russians withdrew to new positions, they maintain their full confidence in the final outcome." Magidoff quoted Red Star as stating: "In the Crimes we must hold the enemy and take their measure."

A German admission that the Russians still hold the town and port of Kerch is contained in a High Command statement, which claimed that the Luftwaffe, despite dense fog, struck heavily at the Soviet supply lines in and around the town. Large fires followed bombing attacks on fortifications and harbour works at Kerch during Tuesday night, Berlin also claims.

STALIN'S ORDER

M. Stalin chose the first opportunity of reasonable ground and weather conditions to order the offensive against Kharkov. Reuter says in a telegram from Moscow last night. The attack has been launched on a number of sectors, with greater chances of manœuvre and strategic development than the Germans have at Kerch. First Russian successes, the telegram says, are far greater than those of the Germans on the peninsula. The blow was struck suddenly and skilfully, with armoured forces used as a battering-ram. Soviet tanks smashed into the key-region of the German defences, and then moved on immediately in the manner of the German technique last summer. German troops, driven back by the weight of the Soviet blow, panicked as the spearhead was followed up, and fell back further. Preparation of the Soviet offensive was not easy, as at the time the rivers were swollen and the roads deep in mud.

NEW GERMAN BOAT

The use of another "new weapon" by the Germans in the Kerch peninsula is claimed by military circles, says an Associated Press message from Berlin. It is described as "a new type of assault boat, which has stood the test well."

In a telegram from New York the same agency says that Berlin wireless said that competent quarters denied the report, "circulated by a foreign news agency," that German troops had occupied the town of Kerch.

KERCH WITHDRAWAL

"During May 14 our troops on the Kerch Peninsula, fighting stubbornly, withdrew to new positions under the pressure of superior enemy forces," reports the Soviet communiqué. In the Kharkov direction our troops successfully continued to advance. In two days' fighting not less than 150 German tanks were destroyed or damaged, many trophies were captured and prisoners taken.

"On the other sectors of the front nothing of importance took place.

"According to verified data 51 German aircraft were destroyed on May 12, and not 43 as previously reported. On May 13 40 German aircraft were destroyed. Our losses were 23 aircraft.

The supplement states that Soviet units on a north-western front sector are causing heavy losses to the Germans in man power and equipment. One unit in ten days' fighting inflicted 4,000 casualties in officers and men. Soviet airmen on Wednesday, on various sectors destroyed or damaged 120 tanks and more than 200 lorries carrying troops and war material, and over two battalions were dispersed or annihilated. On the Kalinin front enemy infantry made several attempts to capture an inhabited locality, but were repelled.—(Reuter.)

HUNDREDS DEAD IN EARTHQUAKE

DUBLIN RECORDS SHOCK

QUITO, ECUADOR, Thursday.—Several hundred people were killed and injured in a two-minute earthquake which devastated part of the City of Guayaquil, the chief port of Ecuador, last night. Buildings destroyed included the U.S. Consulate.

An earlier Washington message reported that Mr. John Slaughter, U.S. Vice-Consul, and his wife were killed.

The earthquake was recorded at Rathfarnham Castle, Dublin, yesterday at about 8 a.m. It was learned that the shock was rather severe and "quite out of the ordinary."

A very severe earthquake was recorded by Mr. J. J. Shaw, the West Bromwich seismologist, yesterday morning at 4 hours 25 mins. 52 secs. (British double summer time). The largest waves arrived at 5.15, and the earth's pulsation continued for four hours. The distance from West Bromwich was 5,685 miles. The ground movements were almost precisely east-west, which indicates that the locality of the shock was either between Burma and South China or in the bed of the Pacific Ocean just West of Central America.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

The total number of persons (men, women and children) in receipt of public assistance under the Poor Law on the last Saturday of March last was 107,141, which is 865 less than the previous month, and 8,460 less than on the corresponding day last year. The total is equivalent to 35.8 per 1,000 of the estimated population.

The number of persons in receipt of home assistance was 87,214, or 1,003 less than the previous month, and 4,726 less than on the corresponding day last year. The average cost of home assistance was £14,216 per week, or £323 more than in the previous month, and £181 more per week than in March, 1941. The number of persons on home assistance in Dublin City and County was 30,427, which was equivalent to 34.9 per cent. of the total on home assistance.

COAL BRIQUETTES FOR RAILWAY ENGINES

CORK TRAIN "ONLY TWO HOURS LATE"

Although the fuel situation was slightly alleviated yesterday by the arrival of a small cargo of briquettes, Great Southern Railways drivers are finding the utmost difficulty in keeping their trains in motion. Already the transport of turf has been affected, and the possibility of a complete collapse is not remote.

"Duff," supplemented in some instances by turf and timber, is now being used almost exclusively, and experiments are at present being made in an effort to find a way to adapt the engines, so that they can burn this poor quality fuel. Chemical and metalurgical tests are being made by experts, but as yet the experiments are only in their infancy, and no attempt to change the structure of any engine for a trial will be possible for some time. Officials of the company would not comment on these plans, except to say that if they are successful they will save the country and the company from the chaos which would result if supplies of coal are not forthcoming. At present boilers are being choked by this dust, and have to be cleared at regular intervals. Drivers are experiencing extreme difficulty on inclines and in stations. Yesterday, as a result of the cargo of briquettes, which gave temporary relief, the Cork train was only two hours late.

INSULATED WAGONS

Special insulation to keep out heat may be provided for many of the rail wagons used to carry butter. The Department of Agriculture is understood to be considering this problem, and many wholesale butter dealers are worried about what will happen when the hot weather sets in.

The principal of one firm told the Irish Times yesterday that their aim is always to get the butter immediately into cold-store, as loss of freshness and texture result from long exposure to the heat of the sun or the warmth of an ordinary rail wagon.

GERMAN ATLANTIC CLAIMS

"U-BOAT SUCCESSES"

A special German announcement claims that U-boats sank nine ships of an England-bound convoy in the Atlantic in an attack lasting several days.

The announcement said:—"German U-boats achieved further great successes in the fight against enemy supply shipping in various seas. In the North Atlantic they attacked a convoy going to England and sank, in stubborn fighting, lasting several days, nine ships totalling 31,000 tons. A further steamer was damaged by torpedo.

"Other U-boats sank twelve merchant ships totalling 82,000 tons and one patrol boat in American waters. Twenty-one enemy ships totalling 113,000 tons have thus been lost to the enemy in the course of a few days."

German radio claimed last night that sixty-five Allied merchant ships totalling 375,000 tons were sunk in the Atlantic and off the American coast so far this month. Among them were some tankers of more than 20,000 tons, it was said.—(Reuter.)

ALLIED SEA LOSSES

WASHINGTON, Thursday. — One hundred and fifty-three Allied nations' tankers, merchantmen, cargo ships and other vessels have been sunk or damaged in the Pacific, Atlantic, Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico and African waters since Pearl Harbour, according to Navy Department figures. Ninety-two were U.S. ships, sunk by submarines.—(Reuter.)

LOWER SALARIES PROPOSED

That all salaries paid from the public purse should be reduced to a maximum of £500 a year was stated by Mr. W. Gavin (F.F.), when he commented on the salaries of high officials during Clonmel Corporation's discussion on the salary to be fixed for a permanent Town Clerk to succeed Mr. McLoughlin, who recently resigned.

By eleven votes to four, the meeting passed a resolution moved by Mr. J. Cleary (F.F.) that a reduced salary of £350-£20-£450 be fixed. He said that when the Corporation asked the Department for information as to the position of the Clerk under the County Manager, the replies were models of giving no information of what was wanted. He thought that the Town Clerkship would be shorn of its responsibility.

LESS GAS FOR CONSUMERS

ANOTHER CUT IN THE DUBLIN SUPPLY

FURTHER restrictions will be imposed on Dublin's curtailed gas supply on Tuesday next. Concurrently, the calorific value of the gas supplied by the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company will be reduced from 400 to 360 British thermal units.

It is anticipated that restrictions on the supply of electric current will be announced by the Electricity Supply Board during the week-end.

On and after Tuesday the use of gas will be prohibited outside the following hours:—

WEEK-DAYS—Morning, 5.30 a.m. to 8 a.m.; day, 11.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.; evening, 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

SUNDAYS—7.30 a.m. to 9 a.m.; 10.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.; 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

It will be noted that the important changes in the hours of gas availability are a cut of half an hour in the morning and a cut of four hours in the evening. The prohibition of the use of gas outside the permitted periods represents a fresh step by the company. The supply cannot, apparently, be restricted to the permitted hours, and the prohibition is an effort to combat a heavy consumption which has been going on outside the prescribed times, in spite of warnings. Now it is intended to cut off the supply entirely in instances where gas is found to be used outside the restricted period.

"The unauthorised consumption represents too high a proportion of the total consumption," an official of the company told an Irish Times reporter, "and it could not be allowed to go on without drastic action. The company is determined now to carry out its threat of immediate disconnection where the consumption of gas is discovered outside the permitted hours."

BAD COAL

The inadequacy of coal supplies, and the unsuitability of most of the coal—some of it is not much better than wet graphite—makes the new restrictions unavoidable, but it is stated that the unauthorised use of gas has been a contributory factor. Bad quality coal and insufficient saving in consumption also has overloaded production plants, and the need for major repairs has become imperative.

The restrictions will seriously affect many Dublin firms which had been making the most of the long "on" period between 5.30 and 10 p.m. "The news is definitely serious," said Mr. S. H. L. King, managing director of Messrs. Rowntrees. "It will mean that one of our departments will have to be completely reorganised. Containers used in many of our processes take a long while to heat up, and would scarcely be going at full strength at the end of a single hour. But we shall find some way of carrying on."

LATE NEWS

ALLIED OFFENSIVE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Thursday — There are indications that the policy of remaining on the defensive during 1942, while munition plants were expanded to produce an overwhelming flow of weapons for offensive action in 1943, has been changed, states a Press Association message.

This new trend is believed to be due to recent military information that the fighting in the next few months, or even weeks, may decide the ultimate fate of the Axis armies and permit "attack" to be the watchword of the United Nations long before next winter.

BRITISH WAR DEBATE

Sir Stafford Cripps yesterday announced that the British House of Commons debate on the war situation and on organisation for joint planning will take place on the first and second days of the next series of sittings before Whitsun. He added that whether Mr. Churchill would speak or not depended on events and on Mr. Churchill.

YUNNAN CAPITAL THREATENED

BURMA ROAD BATTLES

A NEW Burma Road battle has opened in the Chinese province of Yunnan, where Chinese troops, ready to defend Paoshan against two advancing Japanese columns, have destroyed bridges over the river. Paoshan is an important town on the route to Kunming, capital of Yunnan Province.

CHUNGKING, Thursday. — A Chinese communiqué reports that fighting is progressing at Tengchung (Yunnan). At the same time the Japanese are advancing north-eastward from Lungling along the west bank of the Salween River, to effect a junction with the Japanese column at Tengchung. The Japanese occupied Taochi yesterday, and then pressed on to Hungmushu.—(Reuter.)

VICHY, Thursday.—The capture of 12,000 prisoners, the greater number of them Americans, "since the beginning of operations against Corregidor, on May 5," is claimed by the Japanese, says a Tokyo despatch.—(Reuter.)

A Japanese merchant ship carrying "persons engaged in economic activity in the southern regions" was torpedoed and sunk in the China Sea, states a communiqué from the Japanese War and Navy Ministries. So far, 541 persons are known to have been saved.—(Reuter.)

JAPANESE REPULSED

CHUNGKING, Thursday.—Chinese troops have recaptured Hohsien, 25 miles south-west of Nanking, seat of the Government of China. About 100 Japanese were killed during the fight for the town.

Thirty thousand Japanese troops massed at Siaoshan, south of Hangchow, have begun a drive towards Kinhwa, capital of the Chinese maritime province of Chekiang. They are advancing along the railway, the Chinese military spokesman said, but have been repulsed by the Chinese while trying to cross the Puyang River. Minor engagements are being fought in West Suiyuan Kiangsi and West Shantung, according to a communiqué. In Suiyuan Chinese troops attacking Anpeh had a sharp encounter with a Japanese cavalry unit which retired leaving many dead, and in Kiangsi an attack south of Nanchang was repulsed. In West Shantung another attack north of Puhsien also failed.—(Reuter.)

SHIPS BOMBED

LONDON, Thursday.—To-day's communiqué from Allied Headquarters in the Far East says that one vessel of 3,000 tons was sunk. Direct hits were scored on two others of 3,000 tons and 2,000 tons, and a wharf was fired at Amboyna, Dutch East Indies.

"At Rabaul (New Britain) bombers surprised at least 15 grounded Japanese bombers, and great damage resulted. Pilots saw three of the Japanese bombers blow up. Many of the others were seriously damaged and some possibly destroyed."—(Reuter.)

A U.S. merchant ship has been torpedoed in the Gulf of Mexico, the Navy Department announced. Survivors were landed at a Gulf port.

A Panamanian merchantman has been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast, the Navy Department also announced. —(Reuter.)

NO CYCLE TYRES, SAYS TRADER

Deliveries of cycle tyres and tubes to the trade ceased early in December last, and since then to the present date none has been issued for general retail sale to the public, states Mr. M. F. MacCormac, F.C.C.S., F.C.R.A., Secretary, Irish Cycle Traders' Association.

"There are no stocks in the hands of retail cycle dealers, and they are unable to supply for any purpose," he adds.

THE CABBY'S HORSE

Despite the ban on private motoring and the 'bus curtailments in Dublin, the cabman is still having his own troubles. Trade is bad, they say, chiefly because of the poor train services, on which they depend in the main for their living.

They are worried, too, about their horses, which are losing the gloss on their coats because of the shortage of bran and linseed oil.

CORAL SEA CONFLICT

BY OUR MILITARY CORRESPONDENT.

IN order to rightly assess this latest naval conflict it is, first of all, necessary to understand the conditions of the theatre in which it was fought. The Coral Sea is that rather enclosed portion of the Pacific Ocean which lies between the N.E. coast of Australia (the State of Queensland) and the island string of New Guinea, the Solomons, the New Hebrides and New Caledonia. It is a sort of rough rectangle, about 1,000 miles by 800, liberally dotted with reefs and atolls. And here we might mention the Great Barrier Reef, the 700-mile coral outwork that covers this sector of the Australian mainland like some enormous, marine wire entanglement. To southward of the Coral Sea—between the New South Wales coast and New Zealand—lies the larger and more open expanse of the Tasman Sea.

In any sea area the possession of bases is an essential condition precedent of success in warlike operations. Let us see how this consideration works out in the case of the Coral Sea—on the immediate shores of which neither adversary has a dock equal to taking any but the smallest naval vessel. Nearby, however—i.e., at Sydney, a matter of 1,000 miles—the Allies have a number of docks of cruiser and converted liner capacity. At Newcastle, a little nearer, is another cruiser dock, while there are still others in New Zealand and at Melbourne. There is, however, no battleship dock nearer than Pearl Harbour—a fact that at first sight looks very serious, until it is realised that Japan is not much better circumstanced. Strange as it may seem, Singapore is not any nearer than Yokosuka to this particular combat zone—a good 3,000 miles in either case. Moreover, Surabaya, the nearest one of the many captured harbours, is only 700 miles less distant. And Surabaya can only cater for light cruisers or smaller. It is, of course, always a possibility that a nation so experienced and skilful in naval war as are the Japanese, may have organised at least moderate-sized floating docks in their Mandated Islands, in anticipation of a southward advance. The fact remains indisputable, none the less, that just here the Allied navies are altogether better provided.

This state of affairs explains the following phrase in one of the American communiqués dealing with the battle, to the effect that a second Japanese aircraft-carrier had been badly damaged —"which, it is believed, will be a total loss." We have seen from the simultaneous naval action in the Arctic that, if she had any distance to go, a wounded ship requires favourable conditions to make port. This is especially the case if the ship—as was Edinburgh's case—has been holed under water. The exact scene of the Coral Sea engagement seems to have been the N.E. portion of that sea, near the Solomons—certainly remote from any probable dockyard aid. Later the Japanese appear to have retired westward. The latest reports were of Allied air attacks in the Louisiade Archipelago, this being a group of smaller islands, in prolongation of the eastern tip of New Guinea. In all, the battle continued over five days, possibly over six.

THE INITIATIVE

It is not yet clear which side was taking the initiative. In a sense both were—the Japanese strategically, the Americans tactically. Incidentally there is no evidence of the participation of any British vessels, beyond the Japanese Warspite claim and the Admiralty denial of same. What seems to have happened was that the Japanese were building up a striking force—"to extend aggressive conquests towards the south and south-east," in the words of General MacArthur. It would seem that the Americans anticipated this operation, or, at least, nipped it in the bud by going on the tactical offensive. This would seem to be borne out by certain details we can piece together. To begin with, the fighting seems to have been mainly in Louisiade—Bismarck's Solomon Islands waters—i.e., on the Japanese side of what we might, by analogy, call "no man's sea." In the second place, the initial report mentioned the sinking of "four gunboats," which are smaller craft, suitable rather for coast defence than for long-range expeditionary work. Finally, we read of "two transports or cargo vessels" sunk and two such damaged. All these particular ships may have been fleet auxiliaries. In other words, it does not seem to have been a matter of attacking an actual convoy; the great bulk of the ships sunk or damaged were men-of-war, not mercantile vessels.

The battle would seem to bear out what has been more than once stressed in these notes—that this 3,000-mile oceanic eastern flank of the Japanese disposition has weaknesses capable of being exploited. Exploitation can only be by offensive action, such as appears to have been employed in the present instance. No doubt, such methods may be expensive at times; an omelette of this size requires a certain quantity of eggs—not yet, quite understandably, specified. There was, however, a real loss inflicted on the Japanese, with respect to their fleet of aircraft-carriers. To date they had been making remarkably extensive and skilful use of these ships—relatively large and slow of replacement. In the material sphere this is likely to be important.

FOOD SMUGGLERS AND "SPIES"

DR. LITTLE ON CROSS-BORDER TRAFFIC

AFTER again raising the question of food smuggling from Northern Ireland into Eire in the House of Commons yesterday, Dr. Little (Conservative, Down) said he had seen it stated that smugglers could insure against any loss, and that if they were fined they could pay a high fee to a lawyer and "go on their way rejoicing."

Captain Crookshank (Financial Secretary to the Treasury) replied, amid laughter, that he did not know how one could insure against two years' imprisonment.

The Minister had previously pointed out that the Customs Acts already provided monetary penalties of treble the value of the goods, with the alternative of two years' imprisonment, plus a fine of £500 and forfeiture of the goods. He hoped that suppression of this illicit traffic would be materially assisted by a new Defence Regulation, requiring all persons found in control of excessive stocks of prohibitive goods to prove that they were not intended for export.

"INCOMING SPIES"

Dr. Little asked the Home Secretary if, in the interests of public security, and to prevent incoming spies, he would issue instructions that no person from a neutral country would be admitted into the United Kingdom unless the identity card had attached to it a photograph of the person seeking admission.

Mr. Morrison replied that the whole subject of the entry of persons from Eire into Northern Ireland had received most careful consideration, and was continually being reviewed. He did not think the interests of public security would be advanced by refusing to accept for identification purposes any documents other than those bearing the Home Office permit.

When Dr. Little asked if Mr. Morrison was aware that persons had come into Northern Ireland without identity cards and had been found out afterwards, and others had come with borrowed identity cards, and what method he would take to prevent spies coming in, Mr. Morrison said: "I do not think the affixing of a photograph would solve that problem."

AXIS TROOP-CARRIERS SHOT DOWN

The thirteen Junkers 52 troop-carriers shot down into the Mediterranean on Tuesday by the Royal Air Force, were full of troops, reinforcements for Marshal von Rommel, it is now disclosed, says the Press Association.

According to "Jane's Aircraft," a Junkers 52 normally carries some 17 passengers as well as the crew.

According to the British Air Ministry News Service the Royal Air Force formation was returning from a sweep, about 50 feet over the sea, when the German aircraft were sighted. The Royal Air Force fighters immediately went in to attack, and in a few moments the first Junkers 52 plunged into the waves. One after another, at half-mile intervals, the Junkers craft crashed in flames. High columns of black smoke were seen rising from the sea, like a long colonnade, visible at least 10 minutes after the engagement had been broken off.

The troop-carrying 'planes consisted of a formation of about twenty, it was disclosed in London. For some time the Germans have carried personnel by troop-carriers across from Sicily.—(Press Association.)

R.A.F. RAIDS

SUPPLY SHIP FIRED

On Wednesday night, according to a British Air communiqué, an aircraft of the Coastal Command attacked a medium-sized supply ship near Allesund. The ship was set on fire and left listing heavily. Other Coastal Command aircraft bombed a ship aground, near Vaagso, and left it a total wreck.

The German High Command communiqué states that a daylight raid was made on Western Germany on Wednesday. It is learned in London that this reference may be explained by a Royal Air Force reconnaissance over Germany, during which bombs were dropped.

Raiding aircraft yesterday evening dropped bombs at a point on the south-west coast of England. No damage or casualties have been reported.

OFFENSIVE SWEEP

Four Spitfire pilots, in one of the Fighter Command's Norwegian squadrons, took part in offensive operations over occupied territory yesterday afternoon, states the British Air Ministry News Service. One pilot attacked a goods train going towards Bruges from less than 100 feet, and stopped it. A second attack blew up the engine's boiler. A sergeant pilot attacked another goods train as it was leaving the junction, blowing up the engine. The two pilots then followed a canal, and attacked a tug towing barges. The other two pilots also attacked tugs towing barges. After cannon shells had blown pieces off the tugs the barges were brought to a standstill. The barges were armed, and light return fire was experienced, said the Ministry News Service.

Yesterday evening a few aircraft made a small attack on a place on the south-west coast of England. Three people were injured, and some slight damage was caused.

ROME, Thursday—Royal Air Force 'planes have bombed the Havre and Hazebrouck districts, it is reported from Paris.—(Reuter.)

MARTINIQUE'S STATUS

WASHINGTON, Thursday — The three French warships at Martinique are being immobilised by a French-American Naval Commission. Other important details in the Caribbean problem are still being discussed by Admiral Robert, French High Commissioner, and American representatives.

Mr. Cordell Hull told reporters that there had been no reason to inform the French Government of the negotiations, and Admiral Robert said that he had received authority from Marshal Pétain as to "what was best for safeguarding the territory under his control."—(Reuter.)

MINE OFF ROSSLARE

A mine lying in the ship roads at Rosslare Harbour can be seen from the streets of the town. At present the cross-Channel steamer is not plying from the harbour. The mine is about 400 yards from the end of the pier, and in the path of incoming shipping.

Another mine has been dismantled by engineers of the Army at Carnsore Point, and a third has been sighted off Greenore Point, two miles east of Rosslare Harbour.

938 KILLED IN APRIL RAIDS

The British Ministry of Home Security announces the following figures of civilian casualties due to air raids on the United Kingdom during the month of April:—

Killed or missing and believed killed, 938 (men, 359; women, 446; children under 16, 122; unclassified, 11).

Injured and detained in hospital, 998 (men, 500; women, 419; children, 79).

HOT MEALS FOR SCHOOL-CHILDREN

TAOISEACH MAY RECONSIDER

Mothers from districts in which it has been definitely established that poverty exists may form part of a deputation which will meet Mr. de Valera to discuss the question of meals for school children shortly.

Some weeks ago the Taoiseach told a deputation of women from the Council of Action of the Trades Union Council that if they could produce proof that poverty existed in Dublin he would be willing to consider the problem. With this object in view, these public-spirited women immediately began a detailed investigation of representative districts of Dublin. Last week they visited homes in Charlemont street. Within the next three weeks they will interview mothers in Cabra and Crumlin districts in an effort to show beyond all doubt that school meals are vitally needed in Dublin.

Mrs. H. C. Neill-Watson, who was one of those who visited homes in Charlemont street, said that the poverty there was dreadful. Out of thirty-seven houses which she visited there were four which the occupants themselves called normal, but which were by no means reasonably well off.

"In none of the houses," she told an Irish Times reporter, "did I find that the children were getting an ordinary dinner. In some they got meat five times a week, but always in quantities which were almost useless, a pound and a half being divided between nine or ten people."

The houses in which there are only three or four children are not so bad, she said, but they are in the great minority, as the average house has seven or eight children, while some have nine, ten or eleven. One mother of six, whose husband was earning £3 10s., described herself as "very comfortable compared with others." Apart from this woman, Mrs. Watson did not meet one mother who was not worried and careworn.

An answer to the Government's defence that poor mothers do not want their children fed by outsiders, was given after the investigation, when women from the district voluntarily formed themselves into a group who will help the Council in any way possible—by carrying posters, forming deputations, or by any other means within their power.

TANKS ACTIVE IN LIBYA

"A group of 15 enemy tanks was attacked by one of our columns in the central sector yesterday," said Thursday's British Middle East communiqué. "The enemy dispersed and withdrew.

"Artillery from another of our columns in the same sector also engaged a small force of enemy tanks and forced them to withdraw.

"In the northern sector groups of enemy vehicles between Timimi and Gazala were dispersed by our artillery fire."

CORK FIRE BRIGADE EFFICIENCY

A.R.P. CHIEF'S TRIBUTE

TWO officers of the A.R.P. services, Dublin, who attended, in their official capacity, the sworn inquiry at Cork into the extinguishing of Grant's fire and the efficiency of Cork Fire Brigade, unexpectedly figured as witnesses yesterday, the third and concluding day of the inquiry.

Both officers witnessed the Brigade at work in the early hours of Wednesday morning at the big fire in Mulgrave road, in which a garage and some shops were destroyed and four firemen injured, and at yesterday's sitting of the inquiry they testified to the efficiency of the Brigade on that occasion.

Commandant J. Blake, B.E., Technical Adviser, A.R.P. Services, Dublin, said the firemen, who were well controlled and well disciplined, fought the Mulgrave road fire close in, at great personal danger, and he considered they were most efficient.

Colonel Sean O'Sullivan, Officer-in-Charge, A.R.P. Services, Dublin, endorsed Commandant Blake's remarks, and added: "We both came away with the impression that this fire was fought as only experienced, well controlled, determined firemen could fight it."

LACK OF PERSONNEL

The Fire Brigade Chief Officer, continuing his evidence as to Grant's fire, said he attributed any delay in controlling the fire to three causes—lack of water, lack of personnel and equipment, and interference by untrained civilians, principally lack of personnel. He denied that any of his appliances stopped through lack of petrol.

Other witnesses stated that the Brigade had to reverse hoses run out the wrong way by civilians, and that there was trouble with traffic crossing the hose.

Philip Monahan, City Manager and Town Clerk, said that all that could be done was to confine the fire within reasonable limits. The jets were not as high as he would like to see them, but there was a great volume of water, as distinct from pressure. He knew the officers of the Fire Brigade and Waterworks Department were efficient, industrious and diligent.

The Lord Mayor (Mr. John Horgan) was recalled, and said that the Fire Chief stated at the private inquiry that a water tower would be a valuable addition to his equipment. Witness considered the jets of water thrown on the fire as a disgrace to the Brigade.

The inquiry concluded.

DANISH FOOD SHORT

Mr. Christmas Moller, a Danish politician, with his wife and son, has reached England. "Britain's food situation seems very good compared with Denmark's," he said. "Pig killings had fallen by 50 per cent., and the output of eggs had declined by more than two-thirds. "There were no cheese, coffee, chocolate, cream, or bacon, and meat was very expensive. Mr. Moller estimated the German Army of Occupation as between 20,000 and 40,000 men. The Danish Army had their arms, but no ammunition.

Fuel

Yesterday morning's newspaper, with its grave announcement by the Minister for Supplies, made unpleasant reading. This morning's brings another instalment of disturbing news. The Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company declares that, as from next Tuesday, a further reduction will be necessary in the hours during which a supply of gas is available, and in the calorific value, or heating power, of the gas. Altogether, the "cuts" will amount to a total of three hours, and will compel many citizens to reorganise their daily routine—in certain cases, no doubt, with considerable inconvenience. The effect on the private citizen, however, will be less serious than the effect on many industries, employing a substantial number of hands. When the first reductions came into force, certain of these industries redistributed their hours of work to conform with the new conditions: they released their employés during the afternoon, when gas was lacking, and brought them in during the evening hours when the supply had been restored. This course no longer will be possible, and it is difficult to see how the affected industries will be able to remain in production. We cannot blame the Gas Company. It is unable to obtain coal in sufficient quantity, or of suitable quality, with the result that a great and growing strain has been thrown upon its plant. If consumption could be reduced sufficiently to allow some of the plant to stand idle even for a while, the danger of a breakdown would be lessened; but, as matters are, the company talks ominously of the need for major repairs—which suggests that conditions have not yet reached their worst. Some economy, indisputably, has been effected by the current restrictions, but it has not been adequate—thanks largely, it is alleged, to the people who have discovered that a residue of gas lingers in the pipes during the prohibited hours, and have not hesitated to take advantage of the discovery. We cannot pretend to blame them: it is hardly in human nature to refrain. Nevertheless, the fact remains that, according to the company, these people have contributed to the necessity for a still more severe limitation of supplies. They have acted naturally, but against the public interest. In future, if caught in the act, they will lose their entire gas supply.

Similarly ominous news comes from the Electricity Supply Board. The time of year is approaching when the Shannon is at its least energetic, and a heavy demand must be made upon the coal-generated current from the Pigeon House. Coal is not forthcoming, and serious restrictions upon consumption are being considered. Nobody has ventured to guess what form they will take. A complete stoppage of supply at fixed hours of the day is next door to impossible if only because the consequence to hospitals would be too grave. It is conceivable that the Board will allot every consumer a quota of units, charging a prohibitive price for any consumption beyond the limit—a proposal which has been criticised in Great Britain on the ground of its unfairness to the poor—or it may follow the practice of the "Beveridge plan" across the Channel, under which every consumer is entitled to a "ration" of current and will forfeit his entire supply if he exceeds the ration. Whatever course is adopted, the result will be added discomfort. If, however, the national discomfort stopped at that point, there would be little cause for alarm. Unfortunately, the shortage of fuel threatens worse consequences than discomfort; unless the Minister for Supplies is painting the picture in unjustifiably dark tones, it threatens actual hunger. The real danger confronting the country, according to Mr. Lemass, is that there will not be sufficient transport to convey the harvest from the countryside to the cities. The railways are at their wits' end for coal—everybody is familiar with the remarkable performances of the Cork trains this week, and the maximum petrol supply that may be expected this year is less than a quarter of the country's pre-war annual consumption. Every available stone of coal and gallon of petrol must be conserved for the harvest. It may mean that holidays will become impossible, that passenger trains will run only on two or three main lines, and then only once a week or so; that city and suburban omnibuses will dwindle to vanishing point; that the vast majority of commercial firms will have to lay up their vans. All these, and other, hardships must be endured if thereby an adequate distribution of food and fuel may be ensured for the coming winter. The country is, to all intents and purposes, in a state of siege, and must accept siege conditions.

Playing for Position

While the Germans are claiming important successes in the Kerch Peninsula, the Russians seem to have created an interesting diversion some three hundred miles farther north. According to special bulletins from Herr Hitler's headquarters, the Soviet forces at Kerch have been routed by a mixed force of Germans and Rumanians. The town of Kerch has been occupied, and the defeated Russians are being pursued by their conquerors. No information has been vouchsafed by either side concerning the size of the armies involved; but it is known that the total length of front on which fighting has been in progress cannot exceed twenty-five, and probably is not greater than fifteen, miles. When the Germans launched their offensive against Kerch, it was felt in military circles that their move was in the nature of a feint; that they were seeking to persuade the Russians that their main objective was in the south, whereas, in reality, it was Leningrad; and that the attack on Kerch would be followed immediately by a violent onslaught in the north. The Russian General Staff seems to have suspected some such ruse, and to have decided to counteract it without delay. For that reason, apparently, Russian forces have mounted a strong offensive against Kharkov, which not only is an industrial centre of some importance, but also is the "key" to the whole Ukraine. On Wednesday Marshal Timoshenko surprised everybody by a fierce attack in the Kharkov area. Tanks were used in overwhelming strength, with the result that, according to Russian reports, the German defences were pierced, and Soviet troops are marching on the city. Tactically, Marshal Timoshenko's move was extremely clever. The Russians have been trying throughout the winter to capture Kharkov, possession of which would give them tremendous advantages in the event of a general offensive by the Germans. If Marshal Timoshenko can assemble a sufficient number of troops in this area he will cause grave embarrassment to the German High Command, and, by relieving the pressure on the Kerch Peninsula, may upset General von Mansfeld's plans completely. Of course, it is far too soon yet to try to assess the military significance of these moves. They may be only ballons d'essai, calculated by each side to find which way the wind is blowing; and it is quite possible that the real attacks will be launched elsewhere. Nevertheless, the move against Kharkov indicates that the Russians have no lack either of reserves or of mechanised material. The German reports admit that the Russians have been using surprisingly large numbers of tanks in the Crimea, and the offensive against Kharkov was carried out mainly by mechanised divisions. In these circumstances, the whole problem of the spring offensive assumes added interest. The Germans know that the British and Americans have assembled vast numbers of well-trained men, equipped with all the most modern weapons of war, in Great Britain; and that public opinion both in Great Britain and in the United States has been clamouring for some time past for the establishment of a second front on the European continent. Unless, therefore, they are so surpassingly strong that they are in a position to launch an attack simultaneously against Russia and the Western Powers, Herr Hitler's generals must be in an awkward dilemma. To mount a major offensive either against Russia or against Great Britain would be fatal without adequate provision for the protection of the German rear. The events of the next few weeks probably will prove whether or not such provision has been possible.

CRUISKEEN LAWN
By MYLES NA gCOPALEEN

MY recent notes on railway working have resulted in an avalanche of letters. Many of them denounce violently the simple principles I laid down here and are clearly the work of your old-fashioned full-regulator man. The spleen of cranks (who choose to skulk* behind a cloak of anonymity) will not intimidate me in this or in any other matter, nor will it deflect me one tittle from the course etc., etc.

To my mind there is absolutely no room for compromise on this question. Either you are a wide-open regulator man with long cut-off or you are not. We are not living in the middle ages remember.

For myself, I advocated high pressure cut-off at a time when it was neither profitable nor popular. I was derided and jeered at but I have lived to see my operational innovations accepted as a commonplace of railway working the world over. I notice some people get frightened at the disparity between steam chest pressure and cylinder pressure when we have a fall from, say, 300 lbs. per square inch at the point of steam entering the cylinder, to something like 160 when we cut off. But this does not affect the validity of high pressure cut-off as your only man for hard steaming at speed. I speak, of course, of a modern engine and not one of your 1896 Dundalk jobs with the short cut-away lap valves.

I am always glad to receive letters from other practical foot plate men.

Remark

"I'm after making a lot of money in the timber trade, buying and selling poplar."

"Well let me tell you that I dealt in timber once meself, and at a time when it was neither profitable nor poplar."

*The phrase in brackets is a cliché. Incidentally, what does the word "skulk" convey to you? Does it connote a passive or an active state? Is a person who is skulking behind a cloak of anonymity merely standing there or moving about in furtive shifty-eyed fidgets of fear and shame? Eh?

Attention of Mr. Wallace!

Recently I had occasion to pass some strictures on the Great Northern Railway Company in respect of their employees' unorthodox regulator practice and the wrong use of the screw cut-off on some of the 4-6-2 Dundalk jobs of 1919. Not one word of it can I withdraw. Quod scripsi, scripsi. Truth and honesty are golden things, in the steam world as elsewhere, and all decent Irish plate-men will accept my remarks in the spirit in which they were made. This is not to say, however, that the Company is not in all other respects an admirable one; some of the things they do, in fact, call for three cheers. Not the least of them is their annual dispensation of hospitality on the occasion of the gatherum of Press and advertising bigwigs in Bundoran.

The Company's Bundoran hotel is the sort of place you dream about when you are in bed in the Dorchester. It has an insidious and perfect sort of comfort that fits in admirably with the almost violently bracing air that charges up and down the big golf course upon which it stands. A round of golf startles you and makes you tingle like a leap into cold water; back in the hotel, you feel as if you have been admitted (by no means on your merits) to a soft drowsy paradise where you never want to be disturbed for the rest of your natural, except possibly to deal with what is put before you by the virtuoso who supervises the kitchens. Add to that the other luxury that was on the menu recently—the spectacle of the pressmen know-alls winning, with the assistance of Mr. Joe Linnane, an unassailable supremacy in the Irish hierarchy of cretins and ignoramuses.

There is a v*ry n*ce b*r in Bundoran too.

POPE'S SILVER JUBILEE
VATICAN CEREMONIES

Over 100,000 people looked up from the piazza to the balcony of the Basilica of St. Peter's in Rome at noon yesterday to see the white figure of Pope Pius XII. give his Blessing urbi et orbi—to the City and to the World. Half as many as that great concourse were within the great church during the morning, when the Pope celebrated Mass, on the occasion of his silver jubilee as a bishop. The Pope made a new appeal for world peace and justice on the lines of his broadcast on Wednesday.

Members of the Diplomatic Corps en post at the Vatican attended the ceremonies, which were relayed by Radio Eireann. Irish listeners heard during the morning the rendering of the sacred music during the Mass, the magnificent Te Deum, and, finally, the tremendous outburst of cheers from the crowd which greeted the appearance of the Pontiff on the balcony.

The Papal flag appeared on many roofs in Dublin yesterday—at the Apostolic Nunciature in the Phœnix Park, and on many public buildings and business houses in the city. At High Mass in the Pro-Cathedral, the Very Rev. M. F. Boylan, Adm., referred to the great joy felt throughout the Catholic Church at the celebration of the Pope's Episcopal Consecration, and said that this would find a more full expression among the Irish people at a national celebration of the event to be held in the Pro-Cathedral on June 24.

Father Boylan referred to the Pope's great work in the years before his elevation to the Throne of Peter, in Germany, in America, and in Poland. "The history of his pontificate," he said, "has yet to be written, but of this we may be assured, that it will be a bright chapter in the annals of the Papacy."

A telegram of congratulation—"May your Holiness reign supreme"—was sent to the Pope by the St. Joseph's Young Priests' Society, Cavan.

The Most Rev. Dr. Collier, Bishop of Ossory, presided at Solemn High Mass in St. Mary's Cathedral, Kilkenny, yesterday, in honour of the silver jubilee of the Pope's Episcopal consecration.

Longford Doctor's Appointment.—Longford Board of Health accepted with regret the resignation of Dr. G. Coyne, Columcille Dispensary District, who has been appointed to Ballinasloe (County Galway) district. Dr. Duignan, Ballinamuck, was appointed temporarily, pending the permanent appointment.

DAIRYING LOSSES TO DEAL WITH INFERTILITY

Horse shoes that combine economy in material with safety on tarmac roads, and the most recent methods of treating infertility in cattle and brood mares, were demonstrated at the May meeting of the Veterinary Medical Association of Ireland, held at the College, Ballsbridge.

Professor T. G. Browne, Principal of the College, who demonstrated the anatomical aspect of infertility, said that the Veterinary Medical Association in England had completed a two years' survey of the wastage from disease in dairy herds there, and had recommended the Danish method of dealing with the condition. The recommendation had been accepted by farmers and Government alike, and veterinary surgeons in England were acquiring the technique for applying it. Already 30,000 dairy herds had been registered under the scheme. It was a voluntary one, and embraced a new technique for dealing with udder diseases as well.

Mr. D. Twomey, Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, who was welcomed by Mr. J. M. Murphy, President of the Association, said that if infertility in dairy cattle was controlled, and the wastage it caused stopped, the financial gain to dairy farmers would be more than an extra penny a gallon in the price of milk. Fatal diseases were not the cause of the greatest loss to stock farmers.

PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The motion: "That science alone brings no salvation," was carried at last night's meeting of the University Philosophical Society in the Graduates' Memorial Building, Trinity College, Dublin.

Senator Dr. J. Rowlette, proposing the motion, said that it was not an attack on science. They all knew of the immense attainments of science during the past century. The aims of life, however, were things that depended on other faculties beyond science.

Dr. W. J. E. Jessop said that it would be very difficult for one to provide a reasonable defence of the motion. Science was not merely concerned with men who worked in laboratories.

Mr. E. M. Woods, Barrister-at-Law, seconded the motion.

Messrs. G. F. Mitchell, M.Sc.; B. J. J. Furlong, M.A., and D. Mitchell, M.D., also spoke.

The President of the Society, Mr. W. J. White (Sch.) was in the chair.

HOSPITAL'S APPEAL

"It is important with growing deficits that nobody should slacken in their support of our hospitals just now," remarked Lord Glenavy, when he proposed the adoption of the 45th annual report at yesterday's annual meeting of the Council of the Royal Victoria Eye and Ear Hospital, Adelaide road, Dublin. It was stated in the report that the working deficit for the year 1941 amounted to £4,440.

The report, which was seconded by Mr. A. H. Walkey, and adopted, said that in the last couple of years the difficulties facing the hospital had, naturally, been increasing, and the Council could not avoid some increasing anxiety as to what might happen in the future. During the past year 3,114 intern patients were admitted to beds, giving an average of 102 beds occupied daily. In the out patients' department 14,419 new patients were registered and 3,054 persons returned for further treatment, making a total of 17,473 who received attention during the year.

LONDON LETTER

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON.
THURSDAY NIGHT.

WHEN Mr. Harold Butler, director of the I.L.O. for six years, and at present Warden of Nuffield College, Oxford, leaves for America at the end of this month as British Minister in charge of information in the U.S. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Butler, who is the younger daughter of Mr. S. A. Waters, of Woodview, Stillorgan. Mr. Butler's connection with the I.L.O. began in 1919, and he was assistant director for 13 years. At Geneva he gained friends from all over the world, and his reports were considered models of clarity and reliability.

Austerity Dresses

The first collection of women's dresses conforming to the latest austerity regulation of the Board of Trade were shown in London to-day by Mr Norman Hartnell, a member of a Dublin family, who is dressmaker to Queen Elizabeth. After June 20 manufacturers are restricted in the use of materials, width of pleats, the number of buttons, and so on. Women who were afraid the newest regulations for utility frocks spelt dullness and uniformity of style will be pleasantly surprised, say the fashion experts, and Mr. Hartnell guarantees that each dress will give three to four years' normal wear. The frocks will be sold retail at between 41s. and 63s., because the Government has ordered scientifically planned production on a large scale, with small profits fixed at each stage from manufacturer to wearer.

Text-books

A collection of century-old text-books on show at the U.S. Board of Education Centenary Celebration this month shows that although methods of instruction may have greatly changed, the habits of school children are little different. The yellowed leaves of the arithmetic, grammar and geography text-books are rendered more illegible by pencilled scrawls no different from those made to-day in New York's nine hundred and sixty-seven schools. On view is a dog-eared copy of "Practical and Mental Arithmetic on a New Plan, in which Mental Arithmetic is Combined with the use of the Slate." Published in 1845, this book's margins are covered with sums. Narcotics are mentioned in "Intellectual Arithmetic" (1828), which has problems beginning with such a supposition: "If a man buys eight and four-sevenths pounds of opium at seven dollars a pound." Another exercise mentions eggs at fourpence a dozen.

Bookmaking

The Luton Public Assistance Institution called upon the Master to-day to investigate reports that one of the inmates is "making a book" and taking bets from the others. Apparently there was some underground activity in the building on both Guineas' days. Alderman Nicholls told how a man residing there was twice fined within three days for having too much "lemonade," and £6 16s. in silver, believed to be an accumulation of small debts, was found on him.

Paper Centenary

The first illustrated newspaper in the world, "The Illustrated London News," marks its centenary with to-morrow's special issue. The founder, Herbert Ingram, M.P., was born in Boston, Lincolnshire, in 1811, and his son, Sir William, directed the journal's steady expansion from 1872 until the beginning of the century, and his younger son, Charles, was associated with the paper for thirty years, until his death in 1931. The present editor, Captain Bruce Ingram, has edited the journal for 42 years. It was during Sir William Ingram's time that the magazine became famous for its coloured presentation plates, the most celebrated being "Bubbles," for painting which Sir John Millais was paid £3,000.

AN IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Racing Records

Horse-racing, despite the difficulties of these tough days, continues to boom, and this week records have been made on both sides of the Channel.

The victory of His Majesty's three-year-olds in the New One Thousand and New Two Thousand Guineas at Newmarket this week constitutes a record for a reigning monarch, while Mr. Joseph McGrath's five winners, including the 1,200 Guineas, at The Curragh on Wednesday has never—according to my sporting colleagues—been equalled in this country.

The fact that His Majesty's Big Game and Sun Chariot are both Irish bred (at the National Stud, Co. Kildare) and Mr. McGrath's Windsor Slipper English-bred will intrigue breeders, and many will argue as to their respective merits.

It is a pity that Irish horses were not eligible for the English classics this year. The meeting of Big Game and Windsor Slipper would have attracted racing men from Land's End to John o' Groats—transport or no transport.

In 1909

A correspondent writes:—

I inserted the birth of my first-born son in the Irish Times the other day and the act jogged the memory of my own parents, who promptly delved in the family archives and produced a slightly yellowed Irish Times, dated April, 1909, containing the announcement of my own arrival into this world. The edition was—very properly—marked "Special Extra!"

Perhaps, he goes on, your readers would like to know something about the Irish Times of those days.

It contained 10 pages, with nine stately columns per page, and cost 1d.

It contained an account of the debate in the British House of Lords on the theft of the crown jewels from Dublin Castle; of the attendance of the Viceregal Court at Punchestown, and of the erection of the memorial to Dr. Culwick in St. Patrick's Cathedral, etc., etc.

"I wonder, however," my correspondent adds, "if the price was really so cheap or the paper so good. I looked in vain for 'An Irishman's Diary.'"

Parsnips

Belfast is a veritable microcosm of the English-speaking world nowadays, and in its streets one meets with uniformed representatives of both sexes from regions so remote as British Columbia and New Zealand, South Africa and Hong Kong.

Naturally the exchange of opinions overheard in the Grand Central Hotel lounge, especially when the U.S.A. men chime in, is often very interesting, and occasionally very amusing. One of these interludes chronicled for me by a Press colleague relates to a conversation evoked from a Belfast hostess's experience in her "Dig-for-Victory" gardening.

"I guess," commented an American doughboy, "none of you ever saw such parsnips as I grew out in Iowa last year. Why, I had to hire a steam derrick to raise them out of the ground."

The Other End

"Talking about parsnips," said a naval commander, with a Fermanagh brogue, "reminds me that three years ago I grew some at my place here in Ulster, just to try the effect of a patent fertiliser my brother had invented at the Belfast University Agriculture School. The result was astonishing. Those parsnips for gigantic size really beat to a frazzle all records. Gosh, just how far the roots penetrated into the earth we could not quite guess. But, as Tommy Moore tells, 'I never loved a young gazelle but it was sure to die.' And, to our great disappointment, those parsnip plants suddenly sickened and died.

"I guess that was a real pity, now," said the U.S.A. doughboy somewhat sarcastically. "Say, what the hick was the matter with 'em? Outgrew their strength, I suppose."

"Well," replied the Commander blandly, "my cousin, Captain Sam, here from Auckland, tells me that it was because the ends of the roots had been bitten off by his rabbits down in little New Zealand."

That sophisticated son of Iowa stood a stolid statue of stupefaction.

With this great musical play, the Rathmines and Rathgar Musical Society has created new records at the Gaiety. Harry O'Donovan's new play will now be presented following Micheal Mac Liammoir and Hilton Edwards Whitsuntide show, "Harlequinade," which commences on May 25th.

CO-OPERATIVE SELF-HELP

Unemployment and how it affects women in Ireland was discussed last night by Miss H. Chenevix in a talk on "Co-operative Self-help for Women," given to the Women's Social and Progressive League. Miss Chenevix is secretary of the "Torch and Distaff Guild," which is a scheme of self-help for the unemployed members of the Irish Women Workers' Union. The Guild has a workroom, in which the members do sewing and knitting for one another, and for every hour of work they receive a "tally," which can be exchanged for articles of clothing made in the workrooms, or for vegetables from the Mount Street Club. A system of exchange is carried on with the Club, who also take clothing from the Guild. Among the Guild's other activities is the supplying of groceries and fuel at a reduced rate during the winter.

Miss Chenevix said that she wished to see the idea of co-operative self-help, both for unemployed men and women, extended.

A "TOWN" FOR SALE

A small town perched beside the Poulaphouca Waterfall is to be auctioned towards the end of this month.

When the Cementation Co., Ltd., of Doncaster, began work on the Liffey scheme a few years ago they established their headquarters at Poulaphouca. The company erected their own buildings, comprising offices, storerooms, recreation rooms, staff quarters, light railways, and generally built up in this quiet spot renowned for its waterfall a little town of their own. Their task completed, the buildings, machinery, and equipment are for sale, and will be auctioned on the 27th inst. by Messrs. Jackson Stops and McCabe, 35 Kildare street, Dublin.

Smokers' 'Fur'
How to detect it—How to prevent it

Try this now. Run your tongue round your mouth — do you notice it . . . a rough woolly feeling. Smokers' fur has got a hold, and is staining your teeth. But don't worry, you can stop this fur from ruining the look of your teeth.
Dentists know smokers' fur is caused by excess acid in the mouth. Kill the acid and you shift the fur. What is the scientific way to destroy mouth acid? 12,000 dentists say 'Milk of Magnesia'* brand antacid is the most effective antacid known. They recommend smokers to use the toothpaste containing 'Milk of Magnesia' — the only toothpaste containing it — Phillips' Dental Magnesia.
Commence fighting mouth acid tonight. Get a tube of Phillips' Dental Magnesia and clean your teeth with it each night and morning. Then you'll feel the difference; no more morning mouth; no more stale breath. Instead you'll have teeth which look clean, feel clean, are clean; a sweet mouth to give new zest to smoking. A mouth that will say Good morning! and mean it.
7½d., 1/1 & 1/10½d. Sold everywhere.
PHILLIPS' DENTAL MAGNESIA
* 'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia.

CHOIR DAY AT FEIS CEOIL

PRAISE FOR INSTRUMENTAL WORK

YESTERDAY was choral day at the Feis Ceoil, and a big attendance in the Metropolitan Hall, ni the afternoon and at night, heard some very beautiful part-singing. This was especially so in the class for mixed voices, which attracted four groups—two from Belfast.

Singers from the Northern capital have carried off the bulk of the trophies for solo singing, and it was something of a change from the accepted order of things when the Belfast choirs—usually so successful at the Feis Ceoil—had to take back seats, the cup winners and runners-up being two Dublin choirs. More polished part singing one could hardly conceive than that of the winners, the Grosvenor Singers, admirably conducted by Mrs. Alice Yoakley.

In the forenoon there was a fine competition for the Mrs. Geoghegan Cup, for dramatic solo singing by ladies, and a Southern singer, a young Cork lady, Miss Eileen Cagney, now resident in Dublin, was a popular winner, the runner-up being a County Antrim singer. Belfast, however, came into the winning list again when Mr. Norman Hawkins won the coveted Joseph O'Mara Cup for dramatic solo singing for men. This polished baritone has been the success of the week, having won the Plunket Greene Cup and other trophies.

Dr. Annie Patterson Medal—For best setting of two Gaelic songs of contrasting character, for voice, with small Irish harp. —1, Ernest de Regge, Ennis. Commended —Mrs. D. J. Bolger, Millmount, Gorey, County Wexford.

John A. Pigott Memorial Cup, for advanced pianoforte playing—Won by Ivy Keveligan, Seaview House, Balbriggan (95). Runners-up—Nuala J. Killeen, 30 Castle Park road, Sandycove (92); Edgar W. J. Boucher, Edenvale road, Ranelagh (92); Eric H. De Courcy, Baily (91), and Gretta McCarr, 17 Castle street, Dalkey (90).

Mr. A. Coviello, who adjudicated, said that five of the competitors had been magnificent—so good that he had found it almost impossible to decide between them. In the Brahms Intermezzo in B minor there had been some beautiful performances, though the Schumann Fantasia in C (1st movement) was the real test; but here again all these players had got right into it.

Mrs. P. J. Geoghegan Cup (for ladies' voices). 40 entries—Won by Miss Eileen Cagney, 42 Lower Baggot street, Dublin (178); very highly commended, Miss Elizabeth M. Morrison, Dervock, County Antrim (177); highly commended, Miss Gwendoline Madge Britton, 44 Rathgar avenue, Dublin (175), and Miss Mary Todd Johnson, 35 St. Lawrence road, Clontarf (174).

Mr. George Dodds, adjudicator, advised young singers to learn the music first before proceeding to take liberties with their songs. He said that the prize-winner, who sang Mimi's aria from "La Bohème" in Italian, had a lovely voice, with natural, easy style and admirable temperamental adaptability, which caught the changing moods of the song. Her Italian also was good, with the words very clear. Her singing of Hughes's "O Men from the Fields" was an artistic gem.

JOSEPH O'MARA CUP.

For male voices. 23 entries—Won by Norman Hawkins, Oldpark avenue, Belfast (173); very highly commended, Andrew O'Byrne, 58 Upper Leeson street, Dublin (170); Tom Byrne, 87 Donard road, Drimnagh (168), and Hubert O'Connor, 22 O'Donnell Gardens, Dun Laoghaire (167).

Mr. George Dodds, who adjudicated, said that, though there were four good singers, the class was not as good as the corresponding class for ladies in the morning. No singer should attempt to sing any of these test pieces until he had put in a good twelve months hard work at them. The cup winner had sung the Rossini "Largo" extremely well, and used his voice to paint the colours. His "Old Turf Fire" was a delightful bit of work.

Male Quartet. Two entries—1, The Colenso Quartet, Belfast (F. C. Skelly, 306 Donegall road, Belfast) (172); 2, George Leonard's Quartet, 30 Haverty road, Clontarf (166).

Male Choirs. Two competed—1, Alpha Male Choir, Belfast (Conductor, George Eacott, Donegall road, Belfast) (264); 2, Cor na Muinteoiri, Teachers' Club, Parnell square, Dublin (Conductor, Mrs. A. Boylan) (259).

Mixed Voice Choirs. Four competed—1 (Cup presented by Mrs. Sidford Fannin), the Grosvenor Singers, Dublin (Conductor, Mrs. Alice Yoakley) (271); 2, The Dublin Singers (Conductor, Miss Sylvia Fannin) (266); 3, Ormiston Mixed Voice Choir, Belfast (Conductor, William Boyd) (262).

Dr. Herbert Howells, who adjudicated, said that the competition had been one of high merit. All four had given excellent performances. The Cup winners had given superlative renderings of the test pieces notably of Bainton's "Abou Ben Adhem," and Vine's arrangement of "The Lark in Clear Air."

Arthur Darley Prize for Unaccompanied Violin Playing. Six entries—Won by Jean Mary Meacock, Grammar School, Carrickmacross (82); runner-up, Charles Maguire, 42 Prussia street, Dublin (80).

Mr. Spencer Dyke said that the prize winner showed much musicianship and was a player of promise.

Ida O'Reilly Cup for advanced 'Cello. 3 entries—1, Eric Henry de Courcy, Weston, Baily, Co. Dublin (90); very highly commended, Betty Sullivan, Innisfree, Castlepark road, Sandycove, County Dublin (89).

Mr. Spencer Dyke said that the winner had risen to great heights of playing and musicianship. He had enjoyed the competition tremendously, and the test piece, "Variations Symphoniques" (Boëllmann), was a great test to the 'cellists.

HARPS.

Senior Double-Action Harp. Two entries—1, Isolda Peterson, Ailsa, Winton avenue, Rathgar.

Mr. Dyke said that they had heard very good examples of what harp-playing should be.

Small Irish Harp. Six entries—1, Mary Murphy, St. Mary's School, Merrion, Dublin (81); 2, Margaret O'Leary, St. Ibar's Villas, Wexford (79); 3, Lois Ruth Davidson, 63 Rathdown Park, Dublin (78); highly commended, Anne and Mercedes Bolger, Gorey, County Wexford (77).

Mr. Spencer Dyke, adjudicating, said that the first prize-winner had shown plenty of feeling and tone, and had kept a lovely melodic line.

Miss Murphy, who is blind, is a native of Dundalk. She has been studying the harp for three years, an interesting fact being that her tutor is also blind.

Special Junior Violin. 12 entries—1, John Ronayne, 4 Capel street, Dublin (88); 2, Mary Hoey, Convent of Mercy, Navan (87); highly commended, Monica Maguire, 42 Prussia street, Dublin (84); commended, Joan McElroy, 18 Castle road, Dundalk; Mary O'Brien, 159 Merrion road, Dublin; Ethne Lang, 34 Villiers road, Rathgar; Gertie Cooper, Arras, Westbourne terrace, Bray, Co. Wicklow; Miriam Flood, Angelus, Grange road, Rathfarnham.

Mr. Spencer Dyke said that the winner was a very promising player of undoubted ability, and should go very far.

Junior Violincello. Three entries—1, Ethna Goff, Loretto Abbey, Rathfarnham (84); 2, Caitlin O'Byrne, Daneswood, Ballymun road, Dublin (79).

Senior Piano (Cardine Reilly Cup). 24 entries—1, Cup won by Gertrude Leahy, Portrane, Donabate, Co. Dublin; 2, silver medal—Betty Tumath, 1 Everton Drive, Belfast; 3, bronze medal—Doris Lawlor, 71 Eccles street, Dublin; highly commended, Kathleen Leyden, 33 Terenure Park; Therese Maguire, 42 Prussia street; Eithne O'Sharkey, Fernside, Killiney; Mrs. Elizabeth Barrett, Wasdale road, Terenure; Muriel Fogarty, 11 Connaught street, Phibsborough; Oliver O'Brien, 37 Parnell square; Henry J. Kearns, 7 Millmount place, Drumcondra; and Jacqueline Robinson, 45 Upper Leeson street, Dublin.

There had not been a bad performance in the class which was "first class," said Mr. Ambrose Coviello adjudicating. He was struck by the excellent choice of test pieces in the Feis Ceoil. They had been admirably chosen to show up every side of pianoforte playing.

STANFORD PRIZE.

For Church Choirs. Two entries—Test, "Te Deum." Cup and Memorial Medal (presented by Mdme. Coslett-Heller) won by Rathgar Methodist Church Choir (conductor, Turner Huggard) (88); 2, Centenary Church Choir (conductor, Sylvia Fannin) (85).

Dr. H. Howells, who adjudicated, said that the winning choir had great power, well controlled, and sure of itself, and was capable of producing electrifying effects.

Cup for Ladies' Choirs, presented by the Ladies' Committee (4 entries)—Won by Sutton Musical Society's Ladies' Choir (conductor, Mrs. Knowles) (172); runner-up, Dublin Battalion Girls' Brigade (conductor, Mrs. Knowles) (167).

Dr. H. Howells, adjudicator, said that the musical situation in the Brahms' piece ("Queen of the Heavens") was such as to tax the soloists rather hardly. It was designed, he felt, for choral aristocrats. The winning choir had two very firm, settled soloists—a very good soprano and a contralto that could, and did, draw a very bold line. They set an example which the choir took up, doing some beautiful work. Tone and pitch were resiliently maintained in the second piece.

Industrial and Commercial Choirs. There was only one entry—Varian's Choral Society (conductor, Stan O'Brien).

Dr. H. Howells got them to sing two of their test pieces twice, and, as he pointed out, they improved about seventy per cent. at the second time. He said it was a great pity that there were not more entries in this class, and pointed out that the Committee of the Feis were most anxious to get as many industrial choirs entered for the competition as there had been in the early days of the great festival. They appealed particularly to the heads of industrial concerns to take an interest in this matter.

IRISH CHORAL SINGING.

Ladies' Choirs. Two entries. 1st, Craobh an Cheitinnigh (conductor, Proinsias O'Cheallaigh) (400); 2nd, Craobh Moibhi (conductor, Proinnsiar O'Suilleabhain) (391).

Dr. H. Howells, who adjudicated, said that Mr. P. O'Cheallaigh's arrangement of the Londonderry Air (Maidcan i mBeara—one of the test pieces) was the loveliest arrangement of this world-famous air that he had ever heard. Both choirs had been excellent, and the first prize winners were beautifully certain and convincing.

Mixed Choirs (Irish), four entries—1, Craobh an Cheitinnigh (Conductor, Proinsias O Cheallaigh), 402; 2, Craobh Moibhi (Conductor, Proinsias O Suilleabhain), 398; 3, Cor na h-Ard Craoibhe (Conductor, Gearoid O Dioluin), 389.

Dr. H. Howells said that the first prize winners had a most welcome, compact, tonal resilience, and were alive from first to last.

SOLO WIND INSTRUMENTS.

Oboe—Gold medal not awarded. Silver medal—Thomas Connolly, St. James's Hall, Mount Brown.

Clarinet—1, John Miley, 49 Ailesbury road; 2, Frank Cavanagh, 13 Collins avenue; commended, Frank Norman, 254 Larkhill road, Whitehall, and Patrick Murray, 21 Ben Edair road.

Cornet—1, James Gill, St. James's Hall, Mount Brown; 2, Wm. Daly, St. James's Hall; 3, J. Coote, St. Mary's road, Church road, Dublin.

SENATOR'S LOSS

CHEQUE BOOK STOLEN

Senator J. J. Counihan missed a suit case containing clothing and two cheque books from a motor car which was parked at Cathal Brugha street, Dublin, and, in the District Court, yesterday, before District Justice McCarthy, it was stated that Senator Counihan's name was forged and that three of the cheques had been cashed in Dublin licensed houses for sums totalling £6 10/-. Mr. McCarthy sentenced William Perry (52), and Michael Saul, both of no fixed address, and no business, respectively, to six months and three months' imprisonment for larceny and obtaining money by false pretences. Both pleaded guilty to stealing the suit case and the cheque books from the car.

Senator Counihan stated that the car was only on the street a short time when the articles were stolen.

EXPORTING CHARGE

Charged in the Dublin District Court yesterday, before District Justice McCarthy, with unlawfully exporting a motor lorry to Northern Ireland, Luke O'Kelly, Dingle road, Cabra, was remanded for a week.

Detective Sergeant Lynch said that when charged the accused man said that he had bought the lorry, but he had not exported it.

DETINUE ACTION

By consent, Mr. Justice Hanna, in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, dismissed without costs an action of Samuel Sullivan, The Cottage, Bath View, Mallow, against his father, Eugene, The Mills, Mallow, claiming the return of a policy of insurance on his life. It was stated that the policy had been taken out by the father on the son's life, and that on September 24th last, the date of maturity, the amount, with profits, payable was £1,317 5/-. The father had paid £1,097 10/-, and his case was that he was to be recouped by the son when the profits became payable.

The father now, it was said, agreed to accept £767 5/- from the son, and to release his lien on the policy.

STOCK MARKET REPORTS

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

Although trading was on a restricted scale on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, one or two features of interest developed. Guinness units were a weak spot on rather heavy liquidation, and Great Southern Rails turned dull on the Minister's grave warning regarding the outlook for transport services. Irish Industrials were firmer.

Government Funds held steady, apart from the Second National Loan, which eased to 116½. 3½ p.c. National Security advanced 7/6 to 103¾, and 4½ p.c. Land Bonds rose to 116½.

Banks were mostly buyers. Hibernians firmed up to 42/- and Nationals to 38/9. There was heavy selling of Guinness units, and they relapsed 1/6 to 89/-, but towards the close they recovered a shade to 89/6.

Great Southern Rails were all sellers, and the Pref. fell ¾ to 22½, while the Gtd. and Deb. both relapsed two points to 42½ and 66, respectively. Great Northern Pref. improved to 44.

Dublin Transport Ord. shed pence at 17/6, and Alliance Gas Ord. eased to 19/-. Johnston, Mooney Pref. advanced 1/- to 26/-. Cement Ord. spurted 1/9 to 36/9, and the Pref. hardened to 31/6. Clondalkin Paper Ord. rose to 6/3, and Dockrell Ord. advanced to 8/-. Pye (Ireland) Ord. and Irish Dunlop Pref. were the turn better.

British Industrials showed little life. Courtaulds Ord. shaded off to 32/-, and Imperial Tobaccos to 120/9.

OIL IN DUBLIN CELLAR

DEFENCE OPENED

The defence of the Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Company was opened before Mr. Justice Black, in the High Court, Dublin, yesterday, after further evidence had been called in support of the action which Patrick R. J. Tobin, publican, 82 Sir John Rogerson's quay, Dublin, had taken against them for damages for injury alleged to have been caused by oil from an underground pipeline used by the company having flooded his cellar and vault to a depth of several inches. The company denied Mr. Tobin's allegations.

The further hearing was adjourned.

John Downey, Ringsend road, stated that early in May, 1939, he certainly did not like the drink in Mr. Tobin's. He got a smell of oil; in fact, he thought he tasted it. It was so strong. He had not been in the premises since.

John Gaffney, Ringsend, coal worker, said that in July or August, 1939, he saw men in the premises drink only half their pints and leave them. He was thirsty; he had been working hard and he drank his pint in any case.

George Cullen, boatman, Sir John Rogerson's quay, said that he got a smell of oil when he was taking a pint. It seemed as if he was drinking a pint of oil. He went into the premises occasionally now.

Opening the case for the company, Mr. J. M. Fitzgerald, K.C., said that the action had been opened with a reference to "Tobin's Oil Well," but now it would appear that it was being turned into "Tobin's Gold Mine." Mr. Tobin had presented a case with the greatest possible exaggeration and inflation. He was sure that the smell of oil was not pleasant, and it was regrettable that members of the family had suffered, but he thought that their complaints were somewhat imaginary.

HOSPITAL CHARGES

Three and a-half guineas per week for a boy in Cork street Fever Hospital was rather high, said a civil servant at Kilmainham District Court yesterday, before District Justice Reddin, when he was sued by the Dublin Fever Hospital Board for £7 17/6. His salary, he said, was £330 a year, and he had a wife and four children, and all he could afford to pay was a guinea a week.

Mr. Reddin, in giving a decree, said he was sure that if the defendant made some representation to the Hospital Board, it would be considered favourably, and he would make a recommendation to that effect.

OFFICER PUT BACK

Before Judge Davitt and a jury in the Circuit Criminal Court, Dublin, yesterday, Lieutenant Sean O'Callaghan, aged 24, was found guilty of serious offences against a girl under age and put back for sentence.

A WIRELESS SET

At the Kilmainham District Court, yesterday, before District Justice Reddin, a decree for £8 18/- with 15/- expenses was given against Nicholas Fitzsimons, Celbridge, Co. Kildare, for failing to return to John Lynch, Buckley's lane, Leixlip, a wireless set which had been given to him to repair.

LEGAL DIARY IN PAGE 4.

LONDON EXCHANGE

With dealers holding their hand in view of the uncertainty on the Russian front, business on the London Stock market opened very quietly yesterday, and though there was some improvement later, the turnover was on a small scale. Gilt-edged Securities were a firm market, with War Loan 3½ p.c. up 1/16, the "Threes" up 2/6 and Victory Bonds gaining ¼. British Rails, particularly the Pref. issues, were weaker. There were a number of small gains in South American Rails; B.A.G.S. gained another 5/-, and B.A. West were a similar amount up at 7½. The Pref. issues had substantial rises.

Among Breweries, Guinness lost another 6d. at 90/-, and Distillers were down a further 3d. to 73/9. In Tobaccos, "Bats" were up to 72/6—a gain of 7½d. Gallaher fell early, but regained the loss before the close. The statement by United Molasses chairman that the company held 1½ millions of assets in the Far East had an unfavourable effect on the shares, which dropped 9d. after being down more than 1/-. International Nickel were a further ¼ down at 38⅞. There was a good deal of interest in the Building Trades group, and London Brick jumped 1/3, but Portland Cement slipped back to 46/3. Plaster Board were inquired for, but made no advance. In Textiles, Coats dropped 3d., while a couple of weak issues in the Motor section included Rolls-Royce, which shed 1/-.

Ascension Day holiday in Johannesburg left Kaffirs with a neglected appearance and failed to find sufficient support to sustain prices. West Reefs declined 6d. to 32/9, and West Wits 1/3 to 4 11/16. Blyvoor lost 6d. at 29/- and Ashanti and Bibiani lost 3d. Among Diamonds, Cons. African Selection weakened.

Oils were fairly steady, apart from Anglo-Iranian, which fell 7½d. to 41/10½. Attock rose 7½d. and Mexican Eagle 1½d.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Thursday. — The Steels touched new low levels, and, while little weakness was in evidence, fractional declines predominated throughout the list in slack dealings. The opinion is held that many potential buyers are holding off pending Russian developments.

While feeble efforts at a revival lifted favourites a trifle, fractional declines to more than a point were general. The closing trend was irregular.

The turnover of 279,000 shares comprised 602 issues, of which 168 advanced, 246 declined, and 188 remained unchanged.—(Reuter.)

LONDON MONEY MARKET

Although credit was in adequate supply for the market's needs yesterday, the fact that there was more enquiry for money suggests that bankers' deposits may have declined somewhat from the improved figure of £126.5 millions shown in this week's bank return.

The demand for bills was also rather less active than during the first half of the week, but many of the clearing banks were still buying, and were ready to take limited amounts of August maturities.

WOOL

BRADFORD—Spinners and manufacturers have been asked by the control to make due proportion of deliveries against contracts for ordinary civilian trade, but there is difficulty owing to shortage of labour in maintaining the necessary volume of output. Government needs take priority, after which most firms are giving a preference to utility requirements.

Things are not what they were
The cynic used to say: "They never were." But nowadays, when so many things are changing before our eyes, it's nice to recall that there are still some things which have not changed. Seale's standards of value, for instance. Here, at "the man's shop" you still get the finest quality obtainable, at the lowest price consistent with that quality. Just as you'd have got any time in the last 85 years.

RESTRICTION OF GAS SUPPLY

The Alliance & Dublin Consumers' Gas Company hereby gives notice that on and from Tuesday, 19th May, 1942, it is necessary to restrict the hours during which gas is available.

The amended hours of supply will be:

	WEEKDAYS.	SUNDAYS.
Morning	From 5.30 a.m. to 8.0 a.m.	From 7.30 a.m. to 9.0 a.m.
Day	„ 11.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.	„ 10.30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.
Evening	„ 6.0 p.m. to 7.0 p.m.	„ 6.0 p.m. to 7.0 p.m.

THE USE OF GAS OUTSIDE THESE HOURS IS PROHIBITED

The Company expresses its regret for this further reduction in the hours of supply, but points out that the necessity for it arises principally from the inadequacy of coal supplies and from the unsuitability for gas-making of most of the coal received. An important contributory factor, however, has been the large use of gas outside the authorised hours. In addition, the unsuitability of the coal, together with the insufficient saving in gas consumption, have resulted in our production plants being seriously overloaded, and it is now imperative that major repairs be carried out to them.

The attention of consumers is again drawn to the fact that the use of gas during the "off" hours is STRICTLY PROHIBITED, as the effect of this practice is to prevent a fair distribution of the available quantity and to curtail the hours during which gas may be used by the general public.

Consumers are informed that steps will be taken to discover all persons disregarding this prohibition with a view to disconnecting their gas supply without further warning.

The extra hour for the dinner-time supply on Sundays is being retained in the hope that a reduction of consumption will permit its being continued.

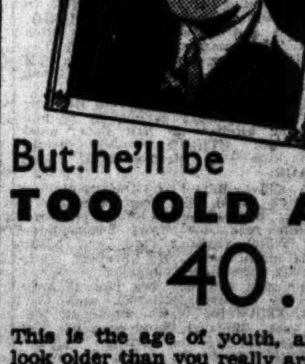

Consumers are reminded that the gas supply to appliances in their possession should not be left turned on during the "off" hours.

W. J. GREY,
General Manager and Secretary.

But he'll be TOO OLD AT 40...
This is the age of youth, and to look older than you really are is a serious social and business handicap—a handicap that no man should risk. Yet many of the young men of to-day will look 50 before ever they reach 40. They're neglecting their hair—that's why. Nothing takes a surer toll than hair neglect. If you want to keep your youthful appearance well into middle age—use Mutesco regularly. It quickly restores grey hair, promotes growth—brings new life to tired-looking hair. In bottles at 1/9 and 3/3, from all chemists.

H. M. Hartigan's Treble

THE Conyngham Lodge stable and its connections, after carrying all before them on the first day, saw the reverse side of the picture at the Curragh yesterday, and, though running many well-fancied candidates had not a single success. Mr. H. M. Hartigan, on the other hand, saddled three winners, the hitherto disappointing Cookstown, running very generously for B. Duffy, taking the Loughbrown Plate, and Sun Arab, ridden by E. M. Quirke, crediting Lt.-Col. Giles Loder with the Beginners' Stakes, while B. Duffy was again to the fore when steering home First House a head in front of Ballyogan in the Stewards' Plate.

Lord Talbot de Malahide scored a double event with Bearer Bond, trained by C. Wilson, and Fairest, from the Heath stable. Clonbern made light of his 7lb. penalty in the Ballysax Hurdle, and Blue Sleigh scored his third win off the reel in the Dublin Plate. Details:—

YACHTING

At Dun Laoghaire last evening, in the 21-Footers' Race, Maureen (P. Odlum) finished a winner 55 secs. ahead of Innisfallen (J. Spiro), which was a similar distance in front of Geraldine (A. R. Wright). Eileen (T. Roche) had something of a runaway win from Bobolink (J. J. Macken) among the 17-Footers, but a very keen struggle in the Mermaids' class terminated in Daphne (K. D. Daniels) beating Minx (A. J. Mooney). In the Cruisers' Match, Mercia (W. J. Smalldridge) cut out a big lead, to score easily.

Important Cricket Test

ONE of the most important matches in the Senior League takes place tomorrow between Merrion and Dublin University, the only two teams with the maximum points from the two series of matches so far. Both will be at full strength. Merrion, in fact, will be even better equipped than hitherto, for C. J. Little, whose play is very restricted at this stage of the season, is turning out. With Little, Brockway, Curley, D'Arcy, O'Connor and Waldron, all capable of getting plenty of runs, Merrion are not likely to go out cheaply, unless S. Barnes strikes one of his devastating days for the University. As they showed last week, Trinity can bat all the way down, but some of their established run-getters have not run into form yet, and either a draw or a Merrion win seem the most likely alternatives.

Either Phœnix or Pembroke may be in a position to challenge for honours later on, and it is interesting, therefore, to see T. G. McVeagh, still one of the best matchwinning batsmen in the country, turning out again for Phœnix. B. Quinn, a useful fast-medium bowler, also will be making his first appearance of the season, and Pembroke will be up against a tough problem in the Park. Leinster are hardly likely to be worried by Civil Service, while Clontarf may be just too strong for Y.M.C.A.

KEEN G.A.A. GAMES AT CRUMLIN

(By PAT'O.)

Dublin's title of Leinster champions was in jeopardy up to the last minute at Mullingar. So well did Longford play that they led from the first break-away, and were three points clear at half-time. When Dublin brightened up in the second half they found Vaughan, McGrath and Reilly steady. Centre-field superiority by Mallon and Keenan kept Dublin attacks in check, and it rested with Tommy Banks, of Sean McDermotts, to save the game. This he did with accurately-placed frees, and his last-minute shot balanced the score. The replay will be at Croke Park on May 24th.

Kildare and Offaly played lively football at Droicead Nua. Once again Kildare (short four of their team) were slow to settle down, and were well led at half-time. Kildare staged a great rally in the last quarter, and Peter Waters kicked four points from frees. They stormed Offaly's posts, but the vital goal failed to materialise. Offaly are a compact, sturdy side, and they meet Carlow in the semi-final.

Carlow made no mistake about their defeat of Wexford this time. The Slaney men were without Furlong and Hayes, of Enniscorthy, and never looked like winning. Carlow reached the Eastern final for the first time in 1941 and hope to go one better this year.

Dublin county championships are nearing the critical stage. We should see two keen games at Crumlin on Sunday afternoon. Civil Service and Parnells replay their drawn game at 2.30 and Geraldines (holders) have stout opposition from St. Joseph's at 3.45. St. Joseph's have improved in every league game, but Geraldines seem to carry too many big guns—including eight Kerry men.

WILL CONDEMNED

The President of the High Court yesterday condemned a will of March 1, 1940, of Mrs. Bridget O'Donnell, late of Clohastia, Graiguenamanagh, County Kilkenny, who died on June 3, 1940, aged 85, and leaving property valued at £1,400.

He said that the will was natural, but he was not satisfied on the evidence that Mrs. O'Donnell knew and approved of its contents. He allowed costs out of the estate to Mrs. Catherine Grant, Owning, Piltown, a sister of Mrs. O'Donnell, who sought to establish the will, in which she was appointed universal legatee; and to Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald, 2114 West 66th street, Chicago, another sister, who had opposed it, but had served notice only to cross-examine witnesses.

Mr. Bacon (instructed by Mr. M. J. O'N. Quirk), for Mrs. Fitzgerald, said that Mrs. Grant had to bring the action because of defects in the document, but his client had no objection to the terms of the will.

PERSIL—THE AMAZING OXYGEN WASHER
MADE IN IRELAND

Eat without Pain
no more Acidity—no more Flatulence

Perhaps your stomach is still struggling with your last meal. You're gasping with wind round the heart and doubled up with indigestion. Why? Because your stomach is always too acid. It sours every mouthful you eat. It turns meat into leather.

You can stop these agonising attacks this very day by taking 'Milk of Magnesia' Tablets. They relieve acidity and sourness at once. No matter what you eat, it remains sweet and digestible.

Your stomach makes easy work of digesting it. No sour repeating, no heartburn, not a trace of flatulence, not a twinge of your old agony.

What about your next meal? Are you going to submit to torture when one or two 'Milk of Magnesia' Tablets will save you? Make that meal the test. Get a box of the tablets now and have them in readiness. You'll be thankful you tried them.

'MILK OF MAGNESIA' TABLETS

'Milk of Magnesia' is the trade mark of Phillips' preparation of Magnesia.
